Chicago Strike Situation Very Critical Today--

EXPRESS COMPANIES BLOCK PLANS

It Is Possible Sheriff Barrett May Yet Be Forced To Call Out The Militia---Mayor Dunne Is Prepared.

[SPECIAL BY SCHIFFS-M'RAE.]
Chicago, Ill., May 22.—Failure at peace negotiations in the final stage lends a sinister aspect to the teamsters' strike today. The city and county authorities are preparing armed forces, which now number thirty-five hundred, for a renewal of violence and the spread of disaffection to a large number of men.
All Negotiations Off
Practically all negotiations for peace are off and both sides are adjusting themselves for even a more determined struggle. Sheriff Barrett and Mayor Dunne reiterate their determination to call for troops the moment their forces are unable to quell the disorders.
First General Move
The first movement toward the spread of the strike this morning was when a hundred teamsters of the Edward Hines Lumber company struck because several of their number were discharged for refusing to deliver material to the Fair department store. This is thought to be the beginning of a movement which is likely to tie up all building operations in Chicago.
More Walk-Outs
Thirty teamsters of the Rittenhouse & Embree Lumber company walked out rather than make deliveries to boycotted concerns. The early trains brought a hundred and fifty additional strikebreakers. Another consignment is expected this evening.
Man Injured
Joseph Cylvola was mistaken for a strikebreaker on his way to work this morning and was seriously injured. Six suspects were arrested. Frank Voelker, a press-feeder, was shot and badly wounded by Special Deputy Sheriff Fitzgerald during the night.
Push Suits
Levy Mayer, the attorney for the employers, consulted his clients this morning and decided to push the prosecution of union officials in the federal courts. The detectives are investigating the origin of seven fires which were started in the yards of the Rittenhouse & Embree Lumber company during the night. The police believe they were started by strike sympathizers.
Conditions Are Serious.
What will have to be done to preserve law and order is the one thing that worries Mayor Dunne. Whether it would be necessary to call out the state militia was the subject of two conferences. That he would do it if necessary the mayor indicated bluntly when he said:
"The law will be preserved and disorder stopped."
The mayor added that he did not think the strike would spread extensively to-day, though it might later.
The Employers' association says it is prepared to furnish men to fill vacancies that may be caused by strikes. Frank Curry, the strike breaker, who had been ordered on Saturday to cease recruiting men in Kansas City, was notified by telegraph to hire all the men he can and send them to Chicago. He is offering the men $3.50 a day, with board and protection from violence. Only white men are to be sent.
Federation to Raise Funds.
At the meeting of the Chicago Federation of Labor Sunday a committee of twenty-five was appointed to solicit financial aid for the teamsters from the unions of the city. Gratitude was expressed for the contributions previously received.
What probably will be productive of more results was a resolution, which was adopted, indorsing the school strikes. The board of education, the juvenile court and the press of the city were condemned for their efforts to suppress the outbreaks of the pupils, and assistance was promised children and parents prosecuted.
Two general agents declared the express companies were firm in their determination not to re-employ strikers. The union leaders, at a meeting, guardedly intimated that the corporations were weakening. This was based on a mysterious conference with a company "employee."
"The thing I am concerned in is the chances of its spreading. I have asked the gentlemen with whom I have been talking as to their information on that point. They have promised to report to me later. Until I get further knowledge of the situation I cannot say what I will do."
Troops Only as Last Resort.
Asked for his reason for seeking further information, the mayor said: "It is simply a question of the preservation of the peace. It is a question whether, if the strike increases, the present police protection is sufficient. I want, however, to be fully acquainted with all conditions at as early a moment as possible."

New York the Scene of a Serious Accident at Harlem River Draw.
[SPECIAL BY SCHIFFS-M'RAE.]
New York, May 22.—A southbound elevated train on the Third Avenue line crashed into another train waiting for the draw at Harlem river. The rear car of the first train was almost thrown from the track into the river. It is reported thirty passengers were injured.

LIGHTNING RIDDLES A BARN; HORSES DEAFENED

August Grouslaus Nearly Lost Five Excellent Animals—Guy Newman Loses Horse.
August Grouslaus, who resides in the town of Rock, very nearly lost a barn and five valuable horses as the result of an electrical storm recently. A bolt of lightning struck the building and cut holes in it in several places. Five fine horses belonging to him were struck deaf by the shock. Two of them are recovering, but the others have not regained even partially their sense of hearing.
Guy Newman of the same town lost a valuable horse last week by hemorrhage of the lungs. No cause can be assigned for the trouble.

ALL QUESTIONS TO BE ANSWERED

Census Enumerators Entitled to Know Everything—This Is The Popular Talk.
When the census man comes to your home give him all the information he desires. If you refuse to answer questions you will be guilty of a misdemeanor and be liable to a fine of $25. City Clerk Badger will soon receive from Secretary of State House the sample blanks for the census of the city which he must take this year. The enumerators who fill them out will have plenty of opportunity to become acquainted with the inside history of every family they visit.
Wants Complete Information
For the city census, required by the state, each canvasser must secure the name of every person in his district living on June 1. In addition to this, he must fill out blanks for each one, giving the relationship to head of family, color or race, sex, age, whether single, married, widowed, or divorced, nativity, nationality of parents, occupation and number of months per year employed, and whether home is owned or rented, and if mortgaged.
In addition to this he must make up an enrollment of all persons eligible for militia service, and of all ex-soldiers. Statistics of farms, truck gardens, manufacturers, and mines also will be compiled. The school board's census takers will only need to secure the names of all children between the ages of 4 to 20 years, and the total number of boys and girls in every family, how many attend school, and whether public or private.

RENOUCE RIGHT TO HUSBAND'S MONEY

Prenuptial Contract Specifies That All Claims That May Arise Against Estate Are Transferred for $1.
Des Moines, Iowa, May 22.—That wives may be had for $1 apiece has just been proved by an unusual prenuptial contract filed with the county recorder. Upon the payment of $1, receipt of which is acknowledged, Irene Caster, an amiable Des Moines woman, has waived all claim to property or alimony and has become the wife of Herbert B. Ridgley, a retail house-furnishing merchant of this city. The contract recites: "In consideration of the intended marriage and of the consideration of $1, duly paid, such sum is to be accepted in full settlement of all money matters, temporary alimony or permanent alimony, and she agrees to execute a quitclaim deed to all her rights to property upon demand."

EMPRESS SERIOUSLY INJURED BY A FALL

Augusta Victoria Was More Injured Than Was at First Thought.
[SPECIAL BY SCHIFFS-M'RAE.]
Berlin, May 22.—The Berliner Tageblatt says the injuries sustained by the Empress Augusta Victoria when she fell downstairs at Weisbaden yesterday are more serious than at first thought. The paper declares she sustained a sprain of her right ankle, an open wound on her right foot, and an injury to her knee-cap, as well as a wound on the head.

Weisbaden, May 22.—Empress Augusta Victoria fell downstairs Sunday and was slightly injured on the forehead. Though the hurt is not serious, the incident has caused the postponement of the departure of the emperor and empress for Berlin.

WILL ORGANIZE Y. M. C. A. AT RHINELANDER, WIS.

Big Steps Were Taken There Saturday and Yesterday—Local Men Help in Agitation.
J. C. Kline and F. T. Richards returned this noon from Rhineland, where they spent Saturday and Sunday working with Y. M. C. A. secretaries from the northern part of the state and state officers for the organization of an association there. Saturday evening they met the common council and yesterday held men's meetings. The two wealthiest men in the city and another prominent business man were appointed a committee to take the preliminary steps of organization and raise funds for a building, it being the plan to commence Y. M. C. A. work there in a new structure erected especially for the association.

LA FOLLETTE ONLY WAITS FOR THE BILL TO PASS

Has His Men All Ready For Places on The New Rate Commission, When Passed By Assembly.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., May 22.—Governor La Follette is carefully considering the available man from whom he will select the three to make up the Wisconsin railroad rate commission. He is persistently rumored that he has made up his mind and awaits only the completion of the process of enactment of the law to announce to the senate his appointments of the commissioners. If this be in fact true the governor is keeping his own counsel and no information of a reliable source is available upon which to base an advance announcement of the personnel of the commission. A rumor of much interest, although of course no verification, is abroad to the effect that Senator Herman C. Wiperman of Grand Rapids has brought it about that Judge Charles Webb of that place, who was defeated by Governor La Follette for the United States senatorship, will be appointed as a member of the commission. It was well known that Senator Wiperman was greatly disappointed by the turning of the administration to La Follette and there were well grounded rumors that Senator Wiperman was holding up the agreement in the senate committee on railroads. When the bill was finally reported, however, Senator Wiperman was in line. Another rumor is to the effect that Governor La Follette desires to name R. M.

TAINED MONEY NOT PLEASING

Young Rockefeller Displeased With Methods Of The Standard Oil Trust.

NOT IN ACCORD WITH THE METHODS

Has A Scene With His Fond Papa, And May Leave The Giant Trust For Good And All Very Shortly.

[SPECIAL BY SCHIFFS-M'RAE.]
New York, May 22.—John D. Rockefeller Jr., according to a discussion among the members of his Bible class intends to follow his action of resigning the leadership of the class by withdrawing from all official connection with the Standard Oil company.
This determination, it was said, is due only in part, if at all, to ill health, but is largely the outgrowth of the great public outcry against "tainted money" recently raised by Congressional ministers in New England. A member of the Bible class at the close of the meeting said that he understood young Rockefeller had held several heated interviews with his father on the general subject of Standard Oil methods.
"Tainted Money" Hurts Him.
Rockefeller Jr., according to report, had made it clear to Rockefeller Sr. that the former did not approve of all Standard Oil's modes of doing business, but regarded them as affording at least an excuse for the cry which has been raised against "tainted money."
As for young Mr. Rockefeller's health, it was said his real ailment had turned out to be nervous dyspepsia of a type similar to that which afflicted his father for years. The trouble is attributed to the care and worry growing out of the great responsibility that has devolved upon the young man since his father transferred to him the actual official control of a share in the Standard Oil.
add the various banking and railroad corporations affiliated with the monopoly.
Considerable solicitude as to his health was expressed by members of his class. It was recalled by several members that the young man had been depressed and despondent for some time.
May Break With Father.
Rumor of a break between them on the subject of Standard Oil methods and "tainted money," with a determination on the part of the son to clear himself of the taint, did not arouse much surprise among members of the Bible class, who discussed the subject.
Young Rockefeller has devoted himself with every show of enthusiasm to his Bible class and has, within the last few months, gone publicly on record as saying some sharp things about modern business methods. He has said that a corporation that did not do good to others as well as to itself would ultimately fail.
According to a member of the class, young Rockefeller while in Cannes some time ago was under the care of a specialist who told him that unless he showed great improvement this summer he would have to return to Europe this fall and continue the cure during the winter.
At the Rockefeller home in Tarrytown young Rockefeller declined to be interviewed on the rumored withdrawal from Standard Oil.
MAY WHEAT JUMPS ABOVE THE DOLLAR
Selling Now for a Dollar and Three Cents—Corn Also Rises to Fifty Eight.
[SPECIAL BY SCHIFFS-M'RAE.]
Chicago, Ill., May 22.—May wheat which closed at ninety-eight on Saturday, opened this morning at a dollar. In the course of an hour it had jumped to a dollar and three and May corn shot up to fifty eight and a half in sympathy.
"Skunt."
You have had crope, roke and drug, and what's the matter with skunt? A young lady a few years ago visited this part of the country who had never seen turpentine worked before and when she returned to her home told them that the pine trees down here were "skunt" up to the limbs.—Charlotte Observer.
The superior court at Tacoma Saturday denied the request of Mrs. Elizabeth Nolan of Chicago to set aside a divorce obtained six years ago by her husband, who died last January, leaving an estate valued at $15,000. The decision was technical, the court holding the request must be made in the form of a petition instead of a motion. Mrs. Nolan will continue the fight.
Bashford with an appointment. It is said that it was Mr. Bashford, who, after being summoned from Nebraska, where he was on an outing last summer, discovered section 35 of the election law, on which the administration acted in referring the factional bolt to the old state central committee and on which the supreme court decided in favor of the La Follette side. Still another rumor, of like interest and of the same lack of confirmation is to the effect that there has been a falling out between the governor and his last year's campaign manager and attorney, H. W. Chynoweth. Mr. Chynoweth has not been seen at the capitol lately and this may be the only basis for the rumor.
Before the end of the present week it is expected that the railroad rate commission bill will be a law. It is now up to the assembly, where there will be no delay in passage, then it will be carefully enrolled and sent to the governor for his signature.
Both houses of the legislature met tonight at 9 o'clock. The calendars are not long on either side and little business of importance will be transacted, the most important measures being set for consideration later in the week. It is doubtful whether there will be a quorum in the senate, for many members secured leaves of absence Friday until Tuesday and Wednesday and there is nothing of special importance to be done tonight.

TRACK MEET WON BY JUNIOR TEAM

HARVEY LEE IS HIGH POINT WINNER.

MYERS WINS AT CHAMPAIGN

Crack Half Miler of Illinois Is Left for Pointless Position—Fast Time Made.

Game work on the part of the sophomore team and an excellent record by their captain, Wright, did not save the interclass meet from the junior athletes at the fair grounds Saturday afternoon. Victory went to the third-year boys with a total of sixty-five points, which was largely the work of Harvey Lee, high point winner, and Floyd Davis and Arthur Smith. Lee's total was thirty-seven points, three firsts, seven seconds and one third. Wright secured five firsts, a second and a third, aggregating twenty-nine points. One point was made for the seniors by Hyzer in the hammer-throw and the freshman class was not represented in the contest. The summary of events is as follows:

120-yard hurdles—Won by Wright; Lee, second; Posenichen, third. Time, 1:17.15.

220-yard hurdles—Won by Lee; Wright, second; Edgington, third. Time, 2:04.45.

Shot-put—Won by Lee; Wright, second; Withers, third. Distance, 35 feet.

Pole vault—Won by Wright; Lee, second. Height, 9 feet.

100-yard dash—Won by Wright; Lee, second; Davis, third. Time, 1:11.15.

1-mile run—Won by Smith; Connors, second; J. Davis, third. Time, 5:55.15.

Hammer-throw—Won by Withers; Lee, second; Hyzer, third. Distance, 72 feet 9 inches.

440-yard dash—Won by Davis; Lee, second; Smith, third. Time, 1:10.

High jump—Won by Wright; Lee, second; Posenichen, third. Height, 4 feet 10 inches.

880-yard run—Won by Smith; Tracy, second. Time, 2:16.15.

Discus—Won by Lee; Withers, second; Connors, third. Distance, 68 feet 9 inches.

220-yard dash—Won by Davis; Lee, second; Wright, third.

Broad jump—Won by Wright; Lee, second. Distance, 16 feet.

Mackey Left Behind.

Harold Myers won more honors Saturday in the meet between Wisconsin and Illinois university at Champaign. He took first place in his race, the 880-yard run, in the excellent time of 2:02.15. Two Illinois men followed him across the tape for third. Mackey, the famous half-miler of the Sucker state institution, started early in the event to fight with Myers' teammate for the pole, and when it came to the pole for positions, he with his Wisconsin opponent were left to take fourth and fifth positions. In the track events every first place was taken by the Badger men, but with many seconds and thirds from that portion of the meet and an easy victory, an almost clean beat in the track events, Illinois took the meet with eighty-four points against forty-two of the Madison university.

ONE RUN IN SIXTH INNING SAVES DAY FOR BADGERS IN GAME WITH ILLINOIS TEAM

The Wisconsin baseball team nosed Illinois university out by one run Saturday afternoon. The game was a tie till the sixth inning, when on a long fly out to Demmitt, Hall of Wisconsin was allowed to steal home from third and scored the second point for Wisconsin and gave to the victory to the Badgers by 2 to 1. Captain Leiby, the Janesville boy, caught and was credited with nine put-outs in the contest.

BIGGEST CROSS COUNTRY RUN OF THE SEASON TO BE HELD THIS EVENING.

This evening the largest crowd of cross country runners that have yet gone on one of their regular excursions this season will leave the Y. M. C. A. building. The exercises were abandoned a few weeks ago on account of the excessive rains, which would have made it unpleasant for the participants should they be caught in a storm with their light running suits for a protection to their bodies and caused the ground to become unfit for running. Cards were sent out Saturday to all those who earlier in the year signified their intention of taking part in the runs this summer and a hearty response to the notice is expected.

FLAHERTY MAY TRY FOR UNIVERSITY FOOTBALL TEAM THIS COMING FALL

It is rumored about that Walter Flaherty will next year attend the University of Wisconsin and his chances for getting on the varsity football squad are good. During his high school career here he made a most excellent record on the gridiron and captained one of the most successful teams that Janesville has had of late years. He holds the medal donated by Rev. Denison to be awarded to the one who was in the minds of the members of the team considered the best all-around player. Flaherty also was a strong baseball player and is holder of the medal given a few years ago by Mr. Denison.

pitch, and Howland and McCaffrey, catch, formed the Baptist boys' battery for the association nine. The Campbell, catch, formed the Baptist boys' battery for the association nine. The Knights of the Holy Cross head the league with an average of 1000, the Baptist church boys and River View Park club each have 500 and the Y. M. C. A. team has no credit, having lost both games thus far played. Next Saturday morning the Baptist Boys club will contest the Knights of the Holy Cross and in the afternoon of the same day the teams from River View park and the Y. M. C. A. will meet.

WISCONSIN STATE LEAGUE

Freeport 3, La Crosse 2. La Crosse, Wis., May 22.—"Pink" Harvey pitched a wonderful game Sunday for La Crosse, striking out twelve men. The feature of the game was a remarkable throw of Hopkins, La Crosse's center fielder, from extreme field to home, putting out two men. Yesterday's game was the best ever seen here, and was lost by La Crosse by a couple of bad errors. The score:

R. H. E.
La Crosse 1 0 0 0 0 0 0 1—2 4 3
Freeport 0 0 0 0 1 0 0 0—3 2 5
Batteries—Hawley and Dodge; Easton and Cornell. Attendance—2,500.

Oshkosh 7, Green Bay 3. Green Bay, Wis., May 22.—Rank errors, five of them in the first inning, caused Green Bay's downfall Sunday. Indian college celebrity, pitched star ball, and with proper support, the game would have been an exciting battle between the pitchers. Most of the game was played in a steady rain, and was called after the eighth inning. The score:

SUNDAY BASEBALL GAME WAS STOPPED

Physical Director Ward and A. S. Fates Interfered at Athletic Park Yesterday.

Official disapproval of Sunday baseball was manifested yesterday afternoon when Physical Director J. A. Ward of the Y. M. C. A. and A. S. Fates appeared at Athletic park and put an end to the contest between the Monterey Stars and the Second Ward team, ordering the players from the field. The teams are made up of young men from 16 to 18 years of age. After the two visitors had departed the scattered players were again summoned by cat-calls and whistle signals and the contest resumed. The game had proceeded to the fifth inning and the score stood 16 to 2 in favor of the Stars when Officer Brown and Sheriff Cochrane appeared upon the scene. Like a covey of birds suddenly roused from their feeding ground, baseball bats and gloves sailed over the furthestmost fence. A sudden scramble of the owners and then not a sound or sign of life on the fenced landscape which had so recently throbbed with battle.

GREATEST DAM IN THE COUNTRY

WILL RESULT IN FORMATION OF VAST LAKE.

IS BUILDING IN ARIZONA

Will Irrigate Private Lands That Were Once Verdant, But Are Now Dry.

The most gigantic of the government irrigation constructions in progress is the Salt River or "Roosevelt" dam in Arizona, and considerable criticism has been made of the course of the Secretary of the Interior in setting aside between three and four million dollars for this project, which will irrigate no public lands, but only those already in private ownership, vastly increasing, of course, their value. The work which the government will do under this project will double and quadruple land values, and in fact make much land that is now practically useless worth from $20 to $100 an acre. Some 200,000 acres will be irrigated under these works and the artificial reservoir to be formed by the Roosevelt dam will be by far the largest in the United States, with the incredible capacity of nearly 400 billion gallons. This is three times the capacity of the great Wachusett reservoir which is to supply Boston and twice that of the famous Croton dam of New York's new water works.

Some Criticism

The criticism referred to of building government works to supply water to such a section as the Salt River valley where the lands are all in private ownership, instead of going out onto the desert and reclaiming public lands is one which will not hold upon second thought. Twenty years ago it was a vast, flat plain, skirted by mountains reflecting the wonderful colors and tints of the southwest, but nourishing only the cactus and other desert plants. The Salt River cut its center, a sparkling, life-giving stream, and brought capital and labor to utilize its waters for irrigation and build up a great community. Dams were built, canals were constructed, and thousands of acres were planted to oranges, lemons, figs, dates, raisins and wine grapes, almonds, pomegranates, and all the fruits and flowers of the semi-tropics, not to mention broad fields of emerald alfalfa where fat cattle stood knee deep in the luxuriant growth. But the valley is today crippled and sick. The canal system laid out was based upon the heavy annual rainfall which prevailed at that time, and sufficient data had not been gathered to show that the period was one of fat years and that the lean years of drought would surely follow. They came, however, over the whole southwest, as can be seen by a study of the rainfall charts of that region, and the result has been that thousands of acres of orchard and farm have returned to aridity. The Old Man of the Desert came in and claimed back his own. It is simply a question then, in the Salt River valley, and in some other sections, as to whether it is not as good or better policy for Uncle Sam to save the homes of several thousand pioneers, who are perishing for want of water, as it is to reclaim new raw lands and put new settlers upon them.

From a Brook to a Torrent.

The flow of the Salt River valley is variable in the extreme. At low water periods it runs something like 100 cubic feet per second. In one great flood the river swept down the valley at the rate of 300,000 cubic feet per second. The 12th annual report of the Geological Survey describes the flood of 1891 as follows, and of which ran uselessly to the sea for lack of storage:

"On February 17, the discharge was 335 cubic feet per second, increasing the next day to 154,000 cubic feet and on the 19th to 276,000 cubic feet. This was followed by a second greater swell, until on the 24th a maximum of 300,000 cubic feet was reached."

The Roosevelt dam is to control and store such floods. About 60 miles from Phoenix, the Salt River enters a profound canyon, with lofty, perpendicular walls and a narrow floor, in which is located the dam site. Above the dam the canyon opens into wide valleys, providing the most capacious reservoir in the west.

"It would probably be impossible to find anywhere in the arid region," said Government Engineer Arthur P. Davis, the projector of this magnificent enterprise, "a storage project in which all conditions are as favorable as in this one. The capacity of the reservoir in proportion to the dimensions of the dam is enormous and the lands to be watered are of remarkable fertility, with a climate which may be classed as almost semi-tropic."

Mr. Davis also made the important discovery that material for making good Portland-cement and bricks lies immediately by the dam site. He states that the masonry dam now under construction will be absolutely permanent—"safe, solid and secure for all ages to come, a part of the everlasting hills of which it will become an integral part."

Findings that the prices bid by the cement manufacturers would add an increased burden of half a million or more dollars to the payments of the irrigators, the government constructed an immense cement mill and will itself manufacture the 200,000 or more barrels of cement needed for the dam. A splendid roadway, rivaling the mountain roads of the Incas, has been built from Phoenix to the dam, at a cost of over a hundred thousand dollars. The cost of the entire construction, three million and a half dollars, will be apportioned among the lands receiving the water, to be paid back to the government in ten annual installments, and no water user can hold more than 100 acres.

The River to Build Its Own Dam.

An interesting feature of the construction work is the power canal, which has already been built. The regular flow of the river has been diverted above the dam site, and at that point is tumbled over the rocks, generating some 10,000 electrical horse power to be utilized in building the dam. It will be required day and night for drilling, moving great rocks, pumping, grinding rock and clinkers, mixing and handling cement and handling machinery. The river is thus being forced to erect its own dam. After the construction, this power, added to large additional power to be extracted from the heavy fall of the river below the dam site, will be electrically transmitted to lands not covered by the gravity canal, for pumping purposes, and by this means fully 60,000 acres additional will be watered from the underground supply found throughout the Salt River valley.

An ample spillway will provide an escape for excessive flood waters, and a tunnel driven through solid rock will enter the reservoir directly on its bottom to supplement the spillway and also to allow for the discharge of sediment from the reservoir.

The valley is already well provided with transportation by the Santa Fe and the Southern Pacific Railroads and the exceptional climatic conditions insure an early market and high prices for the various products of agriculture and horticulture.

The drainage area of the Salt and its tributaries aggregate some 12,000 square miles and some of the mountain peaks near the source pierce the sky at an altitude of 10,000 feet.

A GREAT DECREASE IN OUTPUT OF COAL

Use of That Fuel Is Short Lived—Briquetts From Bog Muck Will Replace Coal.

Washington, May 12.—Not as much coal as during the previous calendar year. The total of anthracite and bituminous coal mined last year in the United States was 351,196,953 tons, compared with 357,356,416 tons during 1903.

Illinois is one of the states showing a decrease in tonnage. Ranking second as a coal producing state, the Illinois output in 1904 was 35,990,796 tons, compared with 36,957,104 tons during the previous year. Pennsylvania heads the list, mining 73,156,709 tons of anthracite and 97,916,733 tons of bituminous coal during 1904, compared with 74,607,038 tons of anthracite and 103,117,178 tons of bituminous coal in 1903.

Since 1814, when twenty-two tons of anthracite, the first mining record, was taken out of the earth in Pennsylvania, there have been produced in the United States 5,577,210,577 tons of coal, of which 514,152,432 tons was furnished by Illinois.

Our American Coal Fields.

The first coal fields worked in America were the bituminous fields at Richmond, Va., discovered in 1750. This coal was used at Westmore, on the James river, to make shot and shell during the War of Independence. The first use of anthracite was for smithing in 1758. But it was not until 1854 (as stated above) that anthracite was mined for use, then nearly thirty years elapsed before it was introduced into New York City as a fuel. The first successful use of anthracite coal for smelting of iron was in 1835, at the Pioneer Furnace, at Pottsville, Pa. In the nineties—I think 1897—the great shaft of the Philadelphia and Reading Iron Company was down to a depth of 1,569 feet from the surface, to the great mammoth coal vein which attains a thickness of twenty-five feet. In that distance fifteen veins of coal were gone through, six of which are remarkable and taken together have an average thickness of sixty-four feet. It now costs $2.20 per ton to mine and load on cars anthracite coal in Pennsylvania, and $2.05 per ton to do same work at the bituminous coal mines in Illinois. Thus we find that in less than seventy-five years coal as a fuel came into use in our country and is now on the wane and bid fair to become very scarce and expensive before the end of the first one hundred years of its use as a fuel.

Supply and Demand.

Long before the supply of wood, as a fuel, began to be noticed, either in quantity, quality or price, we find coal coming in to replace it as a fuel, and in the manufacturing and arts, and as the supply of coal diminishes and its cost increases, we find a much better, less expensive, cleaner and less dangerous substitute appears in the "Office." It comes in the form of manufactured "Bog-muck" or Peat, of which much is now being published all over the world. Peat was used as a fuel, in the arts, sciences and manufacturing, hundreds of years before bituminous and anthracite coals were heard of in America, but until very recently was the discovery made of a process of compressing it into a merchantable form, whereby in less than thirty minutes the raw wet "Bog-muck" can be mined and manufactured into briquettes and loaded on the cars at a cost of not exceeding one dollar per ton, and at a rate of one hundred tons per day from one machine. Every country has a supply of the raw material, even Rock County is rich enough in it to supply the demand for at least one hundred tons to come, when in all probability the future generations will find their needs in fuel supplied and at a cost which will enable them to perpetuate the domesticity and manufacturing interests of Old Rock County, equally as well as the present progressive population is now doing it.

This newly discovered process mentioned, comes at an opportune time and will give relief, rather enter into competition with the coal barons, who are the cause of thousands of deaths annually in their mining operations, and with all its dangers the output is decreasing rapidly in every kind of mineral coals. Then let us all rejoice that it is always true: "That God moves in a mysterious way His wonders to perform." For, from now on, our supply of fuel is to come from the surfaces of the earth where the dangers of limb and life are far less.

COMMENCEMENT AT UNIVERSITY

BACCALAUREATE ADDRESS BY FORMER PRESIDENT.

ORATORS FOR THE OCCASION

Interesting Class Day Exercises and Other Events Are Now Arranged.

Madison, Wis., May 22.—The program for the fifty-second annual commencement of the University of Wisconsin, just completed, indicates that the occasion will be one of unusual interest. The exercises of the week will begin on Sunday, June 17, with the baccalaureate address to be given by former President John Bascom. The class day exercises, including the Ivy planting, the class play, and the pipe of peace ceremony, will be held on Tuesday, Wednesday of commencement week will be given up to the alumni, and on that day will be held the meeting of the Alumni Association, the class reunions, and the alumni dinner. Thursday, June 22, is commencement day, when 425 members of the graduating class will receive the Bachelor's degree, 10 graduate students will be awarded the degree of doctor of philosophy, and 24 the master's degree. The exercises of the week will close with the alumni reception and ball on Thursday evening.

Baccalaureate Exercises.

Former President John Bascom, who was to have delivered the baccalaureate address at the jubilee last year, but was prevented by illness from attending these exercises, will give the baccalaureate address this year. Dr. Bascom was president of the university for thirteen of the most important years of its history, and is a man whose personality left its impress on the hearts and minds of all of the hundreds of students who attended the university during the years when he was at its head. Owing to his advanced years, this will probably be the last time that Dr. Bascom will be able to make the long journey from his home in Williamstown, Mass., so that the present occasion will be a memorable one, and many alumni who knew President Bascom will doubtless take advantage of this opportunity to meet their old teacher.

Class Day Exercises.

The members of the senior class are making elaborate preparations for the celebration of class-day, all of the exercises of which will be held on Tuesday, June 20. The program includes the Ivy-planting on the upper campus in the morning, class exercises in Assembly Hall in the afternoon, the class play at the Fuller Opera House in the evening, to be followed by the pipe of peace ceremonies at midnight on the lower campus. In the Ivy exercises Daniel W. Hogan of Waukesha, as president of the class, will deliver the address of welcome. The Ivy oration will be given by Ira B. Cross of Canton, Ill., and the Ivy ode will be read by Miss Oral J. Shunk of Davenport, Iowa. Mr. Adolph F. Meyer of Milwaukee will deliver the farewell address to the buildings. The class day program includes the class history by Miss Elizabeth B. Foley of Wauwatosa and Reuben J. Neekerman of Madison; the class poem by A. Berton Bralley of Madison; the class day oration by Thomas J. Mahon of Milwaukee; the farewell address to underclassmen, Miss Eudora I. Cook of La Crosse; with the response on behalf of the junior class by Henry C. Duke of Madison. The class statistics will be given by Miss Grace Wells of Aurora, Ill.; the class memorial will be presented by Jesse E. Higbee of La Crosse; the farewell address to the faculty will be delivered by Victor E. Griggs, Kewaunee, Wis., and Edward S. Jordan of Milwaukee will foretell the future of the various members of the class in the class prophecy; and Daniel W. Hogan of Waukesha will give the farewell address. Miss Julia A. Cole of Milwaukee has been chosen to write the class song to be sung on this occasion.

Class Play and Pipe of Peace.

The class play which is always an important feature of commencement will be given at the Fuller Opera House on Tuesday evening of commencement week, instead of Wednesday as heretofore. The play selected for the occasion is "Miss Hobbs," which has been one of the successful comedies on the professional stage. After the class play will be held the most picturesque ceremony of the week, the pipe of peace ceremony. The senior "braves" will be represented by Harold K. Weld Elgin, Ill., senior custodian, who will deliver the pipe of peace oration in presenting the famous ribbon bedecked pipe with its colors of a score of classes to Walter Speecher, Independence, the junior pipe custodian. After the speaking the class will gather around the monster bonfire to sing their class songs for the last time.

Alumni Day.

Wednesday commencement week will be given up to meetings of the alumni of whom, it is expected, a large number will return. The morning will be devoted to the informal gathering of the alumni, and the annual meeting of the Alumni Association. The alumni dinner will be held as usual at noon in the University Gymnasium. A new feature of the exercises of alumni day will be an orchestral concert to be given in the gymnasium in the afternoon. There will be a number of class reunions in the afternoon and evening.

Commencement Day.

The exercises of commencement will be held in the gymnasium on Thursday morning. On this occasion the bachelor's degree will be conferred upon 425 members of the graduating class. The highest academic degree, that of doctor of philosophy, will be awarded to ten graduate students, and the master's degree upon 24. Several honorary degrees will also be conferred at this time. The commencement day exercises will consist of five orations, by members of the senior class in the college of letters and science, and one by representative of the graduating class of the college of law. These commencement

...Forty Years Ago...

Janesville Daily Gazette, Monday, May 22, 1865.—All those interested in organizing a jockey club will meet at the Schuyler House on Tuesday, the 23d inst., at 8 o'clock p. m.

First of the Season.—Mr. Dearborn at his grocery store on the corner of Main and Milwaukee streets, has a lot of large, delicious strawberries—the first we have seen in the market this season.

The Congregational church sociable will be held this week at Porter's photographic rooms, on Tuesday evening. Ice cream will be served and the proceeds applied toward the bell fund. Let all who enjoy a pleasant gathering and improvement, attend. By order, etc.

We Hope they Will.—We do not know to whom it belongs to bridge the gutters at the intersection of Main and Milwaukee streets. These places have been left in a dangerous condition since the ice thawed, weeks ago, and we hope whoever is responsible will be the first to fall and bark his shins. A few dollars now may save the city thousands.

Corner Stone.—We understand that the corner of the Church of the Messiah at the corner of Court and Bluff streets, will be laid with appropriate exercises next Thursday afternoon at 2 1/2 o'clock. Rev. Robert Collier, of Chicago, one of the most eloquent and interesting speakers in the West, is to make the address.

A Good Thing to Do.—It is currently reported that one of our citizens realized the snug little sum of $2,500 on gold speculation in Chicago last week. That man belongs to the human "specie."

The LaCrosse and Milwaukee Road.—It seems that the difficulties which have attended this road since its inception will never forsake it. Every turn of the wheel sinks it deeper. Running through the very best portion of the State, it ought to be the best road in the State, and would, if it could be extricated from its difficulties. Last week it took a new twist, and now no passenger trains are running on the road at all, nothing but a mixed train, with on car attached, for the accommodation of passengers. This is the consequence, we suppose, of its difficulty with the Milwaukee & St. Paul Company which runs all of its through trains via Columbus and Watertown, branching off from the old road at Portage. The St. Paul company have got control of the rolling stock, and they seem to be determined to render the stock of the old road utterly valueless, that it may force a settlement, and themselves control it. We take but little interest in the contest between these companies, but we hope that for the general good, these difficulties are not to be protracted for an indefinite period. The public have some rights which they will insist on having respected, before long.—Portage Register.

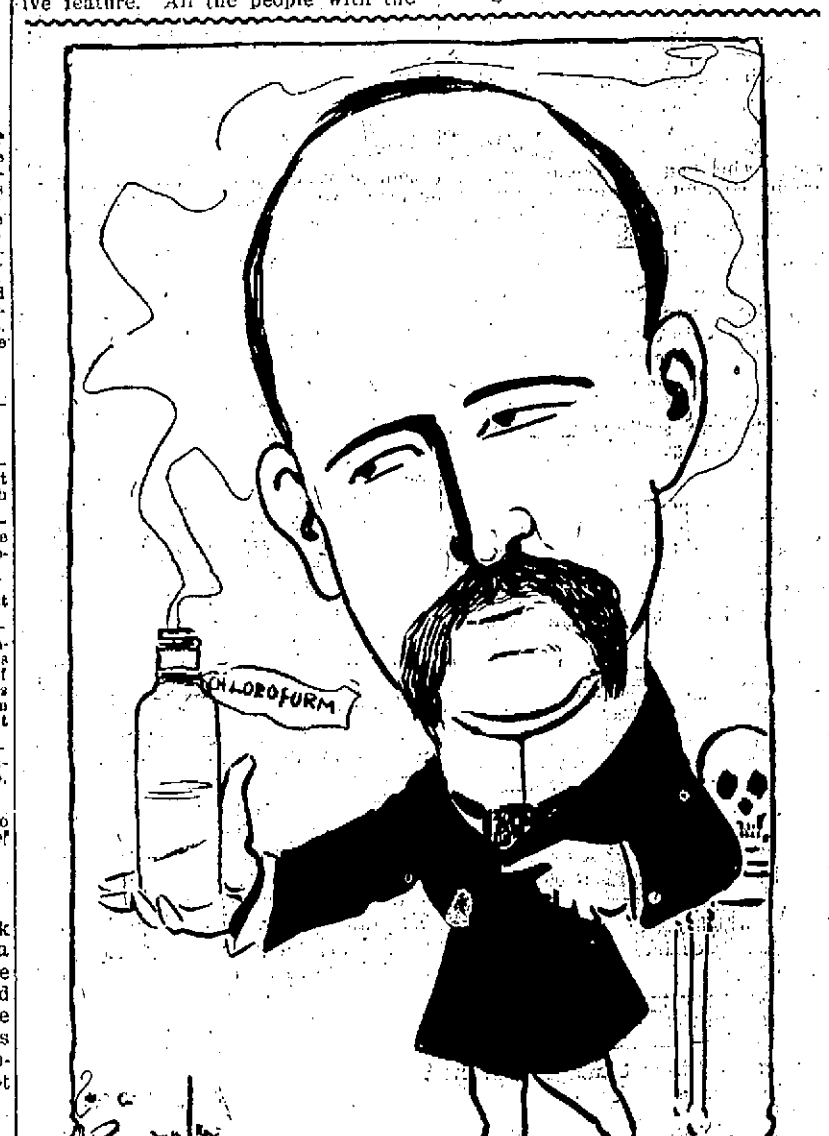

NEWS FOR THE PLAY-GOERS

"In His Power" is the opening bill of the Grindell-Davis Co. at Myers Grand Opera House Monday, May 22. A fascinating play of ease and honor with a very funny comedy part to keep you laughing all the time. Something to remind you of the good and evils of every day life. The new up-to-date specialties introduced between every act alone are worth the price of admission. On Monday a lady's free ticket will be issued, entitling the purchaser of a 20 cent ticket to two reserved seats if bought before 6 p. m.

In the grand street parade of The Great Adam Forepaugh and Sells Brothers' Enormous Shows United, tableau floats, bearing national types and characteristic scenes from all over the world, will be a novel and attractive feature. All the people with the great shows will participate in this free display of the wonders with the circus, and the costuming is the richest ever attempted. Three huge herds of elephants, 500 horses, 100 cages, lions and tigers, numerous bands, 20 camels, 40 jolly clowns, troops of gaily accoutered soldiery, lady riders in Eastern-like finery, children's chariots, fairyland pictures, aristocratic whips and a multitude of other distinctive features will be illuminating factors in the largest and grandest circus pageant ever organized.

Forepaugh and Sells will exhibit here May 20 and give performances in the afternoon at two o'clock, and evening at eight o'clock. Reserved seats, numbered, and admission tickets will be sold at the downtown ticket office show day at the same prices charged in the ticket wagons on the show grounds.

CARICATURE SKETCH OF DR. WILLIAM OSLER, OF BALTIMORE. Dr. Osler is the man who rediscovered red chloroform and old age. Dr. Osler will leave this country soon for England to occupy the chair of regius professor of medicine at Oxford university.

Half Rates to Annual Meeting German Baptist Brethren, Bristol, Tennessee.

Via the North-Western Line. Excursion tickets will be sold at one fare for round trip May 31 to June 2, inclusive, with favorable return limits. Apply to agents Chicago & North-Western R'y.

TOSSES A BABY TO ITS DEATH

Thirteen-Year-Old Girl Confesses the Crime to Toronto Police.

Toronto, Ont., May 22.—Josephine Carr, 13 years old, has confessed stealing a go-cart and baby from a department store. She wheeled the 9-month-old baby to the railway tracks near her home, stripped it and then threw it down an 83-foot embankment. The place is two and a half miles from where the baby was stolen. Next day about noon the girl took her younger sister and a neighbor's boy and went to play near the embankment, where she pretended she found the dead baby. In the meantime the parents of the missing child were frantically searching for it, as were the whole police force and many volunteers. The girl is the daughter of working people, and the family came here recently from England.

Letter to Mr. R. Adair, Janesville, Wisconsin.

Dear Sir: What would be the result of selling poor paint with this guarantee?

"If you have any fault to find with this paint, either now in putting it on, or hereafter in the wear, tell your dealer about it."

"We authorize him to do what is right at our expense."

That means pay damages, don't it? Here's another guarantee:

"If your state chemist finds this paint adulterated, we will pay his bill, and send you $1000."

We stand by both of these guarantees, as we are the maker, we know all about it.

Yours truly,

First Trade in the World.

Two blacksmiths were once conversing as to which was the first trade in the world. One insisted that it must have been gardening, and quoted from Genesis: "Adam was put into the Garden of Eden to dress it and keep it." "Ay, John," retorted the other, who had stood up for his own trade, "but who made the spades?"

Escapes Milk Inspector.

"He is one of the most artful men we have to deal with," said a sanitary inspector in a London police court of a milkman, who was fined. "I remember on one occasion I met his sister carrying some milk, and as soon as she saw me she fell on her back and upset the whole of the milk in the street."

THE JOY OF A GOOD CIGAR.

Smith Drug Co. Tell How Smokers Can be Sure to Get Their Money's Worth.

"How can one be sure of getting his money's worth in buying a cigar?" asked a Gazette reporter of Mr. Smith of Smith Drug Co.

"I'll tell you how to be sure. Just buy a Wadsworth Bros. Cigar. This cigar is always the same—a good, honest, satisfying smoke. It is made with a long Havana filler, so that it always burns with a firm, solid ash, the best sign of a good cigar."

"The Chico burns with a fragrance like that of the Carolina perfecta, a 25c cigar, but it costs only 5c. Our best customers are smoking the Chico and when they stop in front of the cigar case, they say, 'give us some more of those good cigars.' We pass out the Wadsworth Bros. Chico, and they go away happy."

Try a Chico yourself, and see how good it is.

MACHEN IS GRANTED LIBERTIES

Convicted Postal Employe Is Housed in Washington Hotel.

Washington, May 22.—August W. Machen, former general superintendent of the free delivery service of the postoffice department, who was brought here from the Moundsville, W. Va., penitentiary for trial as one of the defendants in the Crawford-Machen-Lorenz case, has been taken to a local hotel. Deputy Wardens Boyd and Haddock of the West Virginia penitentiary, who came to the city with Machen, are at the same hotel. Warden Harris, it is said, refused to become responsible for Machen, although he extended to the West Virginia officials the courtesy of the jail for the accommodation of the party during their stay here. Machen was allowed to visit his family.

THE CHANGE OF LIFE

INTELLIGENT WOMEN PREPARE

Dangers and Pain of This Critical Period Avoided by the Use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

How many we men realize that the most critical period in a woman's existence is the change of life, and that the anxiety felt by women as this time draws near is not without reason? If her system is in a deranged condition, or she is predisposed to apoplexy or congestion of any organ, it is at this time likely to become active and, with a host of nervous irritations, make life a burden.

At this time, also, cancers and tumors are more liable to begin their destructive work. Such warning symptoms as a sense of suffocation, hot flashes, dizziness, headache, dread of impending evil, sounds in the ears, timidity, palpitation of the heart, sparks before the eyes, irregularities, constipation, variable appetite, weakness and inquietude are promptly headed by intelligent women who are approaching the period of life when woman's great change may be expected.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the world's greatest remedy for women at this trying period, and may be relied upon to overcome all distressing symptoms and carry them safely through to a healthy and happy old age.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound invigorates and strengthens the female organism, and builds up the weakened nervous system as no other medicine can.

Mrs. A. E. G. Hyland, of Chester town, Md., in a letter to Mrs. Pinkham, says:

"I had been suffering with falling of the womb for years and was passing through the change of life. My womb was badly swollen. I had a good deal of soreness, dizzy spells, headaches, and was very nervous. I wrote you for advice and commenced treatment with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as you directed, and I am happy to say that all those distressing symptoms left me, and I have passed safely through the change of life a well woman."

For special advice regarding this important period, women are invited to write to Mrs. Pinkham for advice. It is free and always helpful.

Troubled With Sick Headaches? — Try "Seven Barks"—No Cure — No Pay.

Nearly all headaches come from a disordered stomach. Remedies applied to the head won't cure them. There's a letter from Mr. Talmon Snoddy, of Midway, Tenn., which we received on July 30, 1904, whose mother, at last found a cure:

"I can speak very highly of your remedy, the Seven Barks and Globe Pills. My mother, Alice Snoddy, was troubled with Sick Headache. She tried several medicines with no relief until she used your Seven Barks, which completely cured her. Her trouble was of 10 years standing. Your Seven Barks will do all that you claim."

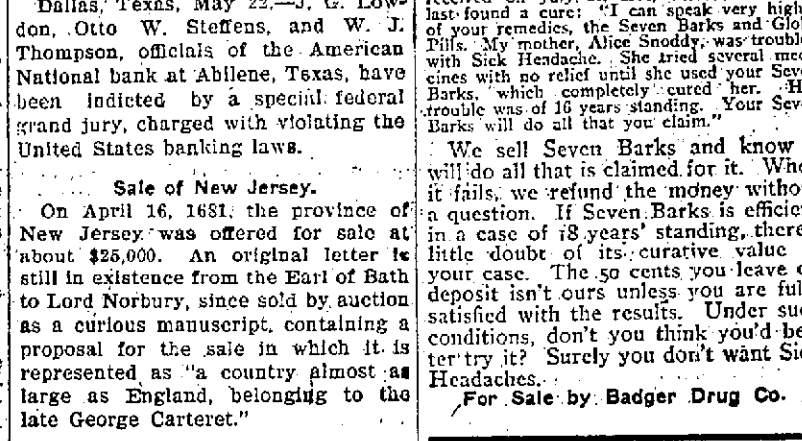

We sell Seven Barks and know it will do all that is claimed for it. When it fails, we refund the money without a question. If Seven Barks is efficient in a case of 18 years' standing, there's little doubt of its curative value in your case. The 10 cents you leave on deposit isn't ours unless you are fully satisfied with the results. Under such conditions, don't you think you'd better try it? Surely you don't want Sick Headaches.

THE CHICAGO STRIKE.

The Chicago strike, which appeared to be settled a day or two ago, broke out with renewed violence yesterday, and how long it may continue, no one can determine. The sympathy element seems to be contagious and many lines of business not directly interested are involved.

The strike differs in some respects from the ordinary strike. There is no personal grievance, so far as the men are concerned. It is a sympathetic strike pure and simple, and public sentiment has condemned the movement from the day it was inaugurated.

When the business men found it necessary to organize and spend money freely for equipment to carry on a branch of business which had heretofore largely been delegated to others, the men should have realized that no concessions would be offered.

The result was simply organization against organization, with right and justice on the side of the employers. The principle established is very significant, for it means the right of every man to work as he finds opportunity, and it means protection to the man.

Many good men belong to labor unions but in many cases they are not free men. The majority of teamsters who participate in the Chicago strike are faithful workmen. If permitted to exercise their own judgment they would have remained at their post, but fear of the organization influenced them to go out.

There are thousands of good men who are under this sort of tyranny, and the establishment of the open shop system will come to them as a great relief. This does not mean death to the unions, but it does mean a restriction of arbitrary power.

The principle of employing labor through a labor union is wrong. It is unfair to the employee and unjust to the employer. It destroys individuality and independence of manhood. It curbs ambition and makes men mere machines.

The man who tells should have the right to employment, wherever he can find it, and the employer should be permitted to hire men either in or out of the union. Men are expected and expect to work for the interests of the men who employ them. They do not work for the union, and there is no reason why they should be accountable to it, so far as time or talent is concerned.

If they are ever to get to the front the employer, and not the union, is in position to lend a helping hand. There are plenty of men connected with the Chicago strike who have sacrificed ten years of opportunity to meet the behests of an organization which demanded unquestioned loyalty. Many of these men will be obliged to leave the city to find employment, and then accept any thing that offers in the way of work and wages.

It is all a mistake, and labor organizations will do well to profit by the unfortunate experience of the Chicago strike.

MAY HAVE A PRESIDENT.

Wisconsin is in a fair way to have a president in 1908, or at least a formidable candidate. The passage of the rate commission bill places the finishing touches on the list of reform movements for which Governor La Follette has so long contended and places him in position to go before the people as the emissary of the same class of reforms in a broader field.

That the opportunity will be improved is not a question of doubt. The public mind at the present time, is in a state of ferment, and reform leaders are in demand.

There is nothing which contributes so much to popularity as success. When the governor left the hall of the republican national convention last summer and defied the party which had turned him down, people were not slow to say that he had committed political suicide, but he has proved to be the most lively corpse with which either the state or the nation has had to deal.

This kind of a man is always popular with the masses, be he right or wrong. People like a man who possesses the ability to turn defeat into victory and the republican party will discover, when the governor makes his missionary tour this summer, that a large constituency are in sympathy with him.

The Gazette has not changed its opinion concerning Governor La Follette. The paper has long claimed that he is a dangerous leader and still believes that his administration will prove disastrous to the state. But that he is a successful leader no one will question. It has been said that he will be lost in the senate, but it should be remembered that he is not an easy man to lose. The ear of the people is more potent than the eye of the senate, and he commands the attention of the public ear.

Unless something happens to stay the tide of spasmodic reform which is sweeping over the country, the republican party will find the governor of Wisconsin close to the front in 1908. He may not be able to secure the nomination, but he is likely to have more to do with the platform than did Bryan with the democratic platform a year ago.

The trend of popular sentiment is toward socialism and leaders who cater to this sentiment are popular. Bryan and La Follette are in this class, and both men will have to be reckoned with in 1908.

THE GOVERNMENT SHORTAGE.

The government expenses for the past ten and one-half months have exceeded the receipts by $26,000,000. The two principal sources of revenue are the interest tax and the tariff on imported goods and the shortage is largely due to a falling off in the latter.

There is no occasion for uneasiness on this account for it speaks well for the American market. Every dollar's worth of home made goods, that can be consumed at home, means employment for American labor and profit for American capital.

The Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Shaw, is a level headed financier. He appreciates the fact that the fiscal year just closing has been an unusual year for expenditures. $50,000,000 has been expended in the Panama canal enterprise, and other expenditures have been heavy. There is still a good balance in the treasury and a bond issue will not be necessary.

PRESS COMMENT.

Eau Claire Leader: The Eau Claire man who can first secure a steam lawn mower and get ward contracts cutting lawns will lay the foundation for his fortune.

St. Louis Globe-Democrat: Unless Field Marshall Oryama and Gen. Linchitch get busy at an early date their work is likely to be again interrupted by a blinding snowstorm.

Edgerton Eagle: The dollars you spend in Chicago, Milwaukee or Janesville are not helping to build up Edgerton one cent's worth. You owe it to your home city. Buy it in Edgerton.

El Paso Herald: Banks are best robbed from the inside, not from the outside, and the fountain pen is mightier than the jimmy. For details, apply to Mr. Bigelow of Milwaukee.

Chicago Tribune: Astronomer Flammarion says Mars has a mild and delightful climate. But it is just possible that there are misguided astronomers on Mars who say the same thing about the earth.

Milwaukee Sentinel: Private Dalzell complains that "political windbags trying to catch the soldier vote" tend to monopolize Memorial day ceremonies. Fortunately the soldiers can be relied on to vote as they shot.

Chicago Record-Herald: It is feared the international yacht race may last three or four weeks. By the time it ends so much is likely to happen that nobody will be able to remember that an event of the kind was ever thought of.

Madison Journal: As nearly as we can estimate it, those who have no automobile favor stringent regulations and those who own a buzz-wagon get mad when the subject of control is mentioned.

Superior Telegram: According to the map on the face of the man who took lessons in shaving from a correspondence school, it will be a difficult job for Rojostevsky to take his fleet to Vladivostok.

Milwaukee News: A La Crosse brewer in casting about for a hook beer sign has supplanted the time-honored and rampant goat with a picture of Governor La Follette trampling under foot a train of cars. Hercules didn't have a better start.

Green Bay Gazette: Rev. T. M. Hare, superintendent of the Wisconsin anti-saloon league, says Milwaukee is the toughest city in the United States. He should be more guarded in making such comments if he has any desire to stand in with Oshkosh.

Chicago Post: Albert Schaller of the Sinissippi Golf club, Janesville, Wis., is in the city. He says that there is more enthusiasm in his city than at any time since the links were established. The Wisconsin state tourney, Mr. Schaller says, doubtless will be played at the pretty course at La Crosse, Wis., this summer.

Chicago Inter Ocean: The New York man who pleaded that it was his other self and not his real self who committed a murder has been sentenced to thirty years in prison. If he can now imagine to feel that it is his other self and not his real self that is undergoing sentence, there is no reason why his real self should not enjoy as much freedom as ever.

New York Sun: We love to see the English language grow. In Norfolk there is a "Sutatorium" where "anything in the clothing line" is pressed and cleaned. There is, or was, a "Pantorium" in Newark. Shirts, Undershirts, Collars, Cuffs, Collar-cuffs have been born or will be. Not for naught is the country filled with auditoriums.

Madison Journal: The Sentinel's "funny man" Kirk has gone to New York to enjoy a big salary, and a new wit is installed—Will F. Griffin. Kirk was certainly a droll fellow. His "Norsk Nightingale" verse will not soon be forgotten and his occasional pathos, while, by no means, Eugene Fieldian, was heart-echo all right. As a rule, however, Kirk's "boozie" allusions were too omnipresent. Mr. Griffin is an Eau Claire man.

Oshkosh Northwestern: In some parts of the country a mistaken impression has gone forth that Oshkosh has turned into a Sunday school town, just because the slot machine question was one of the issues of the recent municipal campaign, and the decision of the people was in favor of having the machines thrown out. To tell the truth, however, Oshkosh is just about as lively a town as it ever was, and there is still plenty of opportunity to "have a little fun with the boys."

Kansas City Star: It is noted that there are no tornadoes or cyclones north of the fiftieth parallel. When you get up around Canada and Nova Scotia there is not enough hot air to mix the cold air to make a decent whirlwind in the road. But don't jump at the superficial conclusion that it would be grand to live in a country where the wind never goes whirling around in the form of a funnel. There are plenty of other things besides wind funnels that are not found north of the fiftieth parallel. No cantaloupes and watermelons, mind you, gladden the bleak hearts of the Canadians; no green corn on the cob; no pawpaws; mightily few, if any, fresh cherry pies; not nearly enough spring lamb and new peas to go around. Just rig up a cyclone cellar or a cave and stay with the melons and the green corn and the pawpaws and the other good things in "God's country."

Milwaukee Sentinel: If the general understanding of the conditional acceptance of the election to the United States senate by Gov. La Follette is correct, the passage of this bill will remove all doubt of his retirement from his present office. So far no new issues of importance have been developed during the present session of the legislature. The primary election law—an administration measure—is on the statute books and in a fair way to be thoroughly tested next year. The ad valorem railroad taxation law—a conservative, tax commission measure—is in operation. Now the administration railroad commission bill has been passed and only awaits the endorsement of the governor and assent by which it must stand or fall. With Governor La Follette removed to the senate and securely placed for six years, it ought to be possible for Wisconsin republicans to drop personalities and devote their time to an orderly adjustment of party differences.

Fond du Lac Commonwealth: The press bureau of the Lewis and Clark exposition, which is to be held at Portland this year, is doing some good work in sending out readable matter to the newspapers. This matter is descriptive in character and if given publicity will serve to arouse a wide interest in the forthcoming exposition. The press has thus far given liberal space to the exposition, but few newspapers are able to use more than a fractional part of the press matter being sent out for free insertion. The management of the exposition, however, should profit by the experience of St. Louis and Buffalo and arrange for a liberal amount of advertising on a cash basis. The officers of the exposition, the contractors who erected the buildings and everybody else connected with it, except the newspapers, are being paid for their services. The newspapers are exceedingly liberal with their space, under such circumstances, but there is a limit to all things.

Chicago Chronicle: Governor La Follette of Wisconsin has at last secured the kind of railroad legislation he wants. Thursday night the state senate passed a more drastic bill than had been sent over from the house, and as the latter body is the more radical it was taken for granted that it would promptly accept the senate bill. The bill creates a commission of three members, to be appointed by the governor, each of whom will get $5,000 a year and traveling expenses. The railroad companies can make such rates as they please under a rule of uniform classification, but the commission will have the power to make other rates subject to review by the courts. All the new rates must be filed with the commission and no advance in rates can be made until the commission has had ten days to pass on them. Any person may make complaint as to any rate and if the company does not change it within ten days of the notice the commission may order a hearing. If that body finds the rate unreasonable or unjustly discriminatory it can fix a rate which will go into effect within twenty days. If either party is dissatisfied he may prevent the rate from going into effect pending a determination of its justice by a court. The bill prohibits all unjust discriminations and provides that there shall be only one classification of freight in the state; that this shall be uniform on all railroads and the same for state as for interstate traffic. From this statement of its provisions it appears that this bill is based on the same principles as the Esch-Townsend bill passed by the national house last winter. There is the same recognition of the right of the railroad companies to initiate schedules and the same grant of power to a commission to pass on the reasonableness and justice of challenged rates and to substitute others for them if found to be unreasonable, subject to approval by the courts on appeal by either side.

ADMIRAL TOGO ON THE QUARTER DECK OF THE BATTLESHIP MIKASA.

When Admiral Togo first took command of the Japanese fleet his officers gathered around him. In front of them, says the Century Magazine, were placed a whiteout map, used for sacred purposes, and a dagger, the old sacred symbol of samurai honor. It meant honor or death. Togo looked in silence at his officers and then upon the sacred symbol of samurai honor. At last he said: "Gentlemen, the pleasant day which we spent on the hillside of Sasebo was our farewell feast to our wives and children and to life. The squadrons will sail today. JAPANESE ON STRIKE ON ISLAND OF MAUI

Refusal of Demands Is Followed by Scenes of Rioting, With Workmen in Ugly Mood.

Honolulu, May 22.—Most of the white population at Lahaina, on the island of Maui, including the military, are prisoners in the courthouse, surrounded by striking Japanese laborers. One Japanese was killed and two were wounded by the plantation police during an attack on a plantation mill. The entire 2,300 Japanese laborers on the island are now on strike and are showing a violent mood.

The steamer Kinai left Honolulu Sunday afternoon, taking national guard company F, thirty men, and forty armed Honolulu police, under High Sheriff Henry to the scene of the trouble.

The strike started a week ago on the Waiuku plantation. The Japanese made a long list of demands, among them being the discharge of the head overseer, and all were rejected. On Friday the strike spread to the Pioneer plantation. The plantation immediately began paying off the striking Japanese, who then commenced to stone the mill and resisted all efforts of the mounted police to drive them away. The Maui military, which was called out, restored order temporarily.

Everything was peaceful late Saturday when the island steamer Claudine left, but soon after a clash between the Japanese and plantation police led to the shooting, resulting in a general outbreak and the imprisonment of the whites and the militia.

Wireless messages were sent to Honolulu asking for aid. The secretary of the Japanese consul accompanied the force on the steamer Kinai. He will try to pacify the strikers.

WIND BLOWS IN PASSENGER STATION

Severe Storm Kills Train Dispatcher, Blows Away Part of Town in Texas and Unroofs Buildings.

Fort Worth, Texas, May 22.—A heavy windstorm blowing at the rate of seventy miles an hour struck this city from the southwest at 6:30 o'clock Sunday night. Part of the west wall of the Texas & Pacific Passenger station was blown in and John Young, a train dispatcher, was killed. The storm was most severe west of the city and all telephone and telegraph wires in that direction are down. A passenger on a Texas & Pacific train from the west reports that the town of Mineral Wells was partly blown away. One church building belonging to the African Methodist Episcopal congregation here was demolished. Many business buildings lost their roofs, including the First National Bank building, a seven-story structure.

The Baptist and Episcopal churches in North Fort Worth were badly wrecked, while the roofs of the Grand hotel in East Weatherford street were torn away. Fifty dwellings in various parts of the city were damaged. The second ward school building was partially wrecked. The storm extended as far east as Terrell, but did no particular damage at that point. Handley, seven miles east of here, suffered much property damage.

QUITE A NUMBER OF LOCAL MEN EMPLOYED IN BELOIT

Maintain Their Homes Here and Make the Trip Daily Over the Interurban Line.

Quite a delegation of Janesville mechanics are employed in the Berlin Works and Fairbanks-Morse plants in Beloit and make the trip to and from the line city daily over the interurban line. It costs them a trifle less than 35 cents a day for transportation and by getting their breakfast at home and carrying their dinners they escape any extra expense for board. House rent and general living expenses are said to be somewhat lower in Janesville and this makes it worth while to maintain their residence here.

A MAN STRONGER THAN HE LOOKED

FORCEFUL SERMON ON PAUL, BY REV. DENISON.

WAS PHYSICALLY VERY WEAK

But His Letters and Sayings From Which We Must Judge His Personality, Were Strong.

Rev. Denison last evening spoke on the theme, "A Man Stronger Than He Looked." He said in part: There are some things in the life of Paul that may give encouragement and stimulus to us. To learn of him we must not depend on the sayings of others. Take for example in reading the different histories of England we get two widely different and very unlike pictures of Oliver Cromwell. We never learn much of a man by a formal essay written by him, but an insight into his spirit and his life is gained best by his change remarks and extracts from his almost careless letters to friends. Thus Paul should be studied by those epistles and friendly letters which he wrote not as sermons or advice to be afterward printed in the Bible. From his uncomposed utterances we learn most of him.

Physically Defective. He speaks of this weakness as a stake, translated a thorn, in his side. Different are the theories as to the nature of his disease. Some are of the opinion that he was epileptic, subject to paralytic strokes, affected with an eye disease so common in the eastern countries, or with a type of malarial fever. Whatever it was he had to continually fight against it. His physical presence was weak and contemptible and he was small of stature. The Corinthians, when he stood on the hill of Mars, called him a babbling because in their minds physical deformity was worse than immortality. But he was stout of heart and brave. He feared not when in the storm on the sea of Galilee. The sailors, who had experienced many storms and the Roman soldiers who had seen many a battle were unimpressed. But Paul had seen a vision from his God and told them "Not one of you shall see me alive."

There is cheerfulness of nature all through his letters, a mien of happy triumph that is characteristic of him. An air of triumphant optimism was peculiar to him. He knew of all the sins, drunkenness, immortality, evil, avarice and greed, so what was the source of his cheerfulness and optimism, if it was not ignorance of sin. There are two things that made him happy. He had ceased worrying about himself; he had come to a faith that relieved him. He said, "I am a free man through the love of Christ." He was cheerful because he saw truth and love at work and men endowed with a spirit of nobility. He was no longer afraid of the future; he was no longer afraid of death. He believed that after all the troubles of the world and all the sickness and all the battles would come the redeemed city.

His Decision Was Firm. To this secret of redemption Paul linked his purpose. When he made his decision in life, when he became a Christian there was nothing shallow or frivolous or superficial about it. A minister recently said that one of the greatest influences in his church was a girl eleven years of age. She wished to unite with the church for two reasons—she trusted in God and wanted to live with a might for Him. Her faith was fine and delicate, but strong. Her body was not mighty, but she had a purpose that was firmer than that of many a man physically perfect, who stout of muscle but nabby of spirit. Her decision, like Paul's, admitted of no frivolity, so superficiality.

BOAT IS CAPSIZED; FOUR NEARLY DROWN

A. M. Smith and Three Sons Have Narrow Escape Under Bridge.

Prompt work on the part of the members of the fire department located at the west side station was all that saved Harry and Claude Smith from a watery grave in Rock river yesterday morning, while it was with difficulty that the father of the two boys, A. M. Smith, and another son, George, saved themselves from the current's wrath. The party of four were in a rowboat in the river just above the Court street bridge and in coming down stream struck a pile that assists in the support of the Conrad buildings over the stream at this point. The vessel was capsized and the man and boys dumped into the current, which, on account of the high water at present, is very swift. In a manner almost miraculous all reached a pile or cross timber and commenced a trying hour's work for help. Their cries were heard by persons in the Nelson Livery barn and on the bridge and the hook and ladder truck summoned from the east side fire station. The ladder was lowered from a rear window of the building occupied by D. M. Barless' farm machinery repository and Harry and Claude, the two youngest lads, whose peril was most imminent, hauled up. Mr. Smith and George saved themselves by swimming and climbing through the pile and timber supports. The work of the rescue was watched by scores of persons who were attracted from Milwaukee street by the run of the fire wagon, and others passing over the Court street bridge on their way to church.

HOST OF POVERTY STRICKEN JUNIORS

Assembled at the High School Gym for the Hard Times Banquet Saturday Night.

One of the most unique of the High school social affairs this season was the "Hard Times Banquet" given by the junior class at the symposium, Saturday evening. The invitations were printed on "butcher's brown" and the same simple and unpretentious tone characterized the proceedings so unostentatiously announced. Prof. John Arbutnot, who was appointed "policeman" came to the festivities in a long linen duster, and displayed a large silver star. Several of the other costumes worn were nearly as effective. Laverne Brooks' rhymed "Toasts to the Toasters" was a feature of the post-prandial program which was auspiciously opened by Frank Phelps in his address of welcome. The other numbers on the program, all of which were received with great acclaim, were as follows: "The Phoenix Band," Miss Greening; Declaration, Miss Mary Gage; "The Greek Chorus," Grant Hyde; Declaration, Elmer Dreyer; "Athletics," Harvey Lee; "The Powers That Be," Miss Julia Enright; Vocal Solo, Laverne Brooks; Declaration, Miss Ada Longley.

KITCHEN SHOWER FOR MISS MARTHA KOTKE

Prospective Bride Tendered a Surprise by Her Many Friends Saturday Evening.

On Saturday evening last at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. John Quinn, Miss Martha Kotke was tendered a surprise by her many friends in the shape of a kitchen shower. Miss Kotke is to be married in June to Mr. Walter Otto and to prepare for the mysteries of housekeeping every thing in the line of kitchen furniture from a wash-boiler to a crumb-tray was presented to her. A merry evening was spent and delicious refreshments served. Those who were present were Misses Martha Kotke, Bertha Dreager, Martha Dreager, Bertha Schenke, Helen Boehm, Helen Streich, Little Streich, Odell Ziegler, and Annie Hoff; Mrs. Podewell, Mrs. Mauldrop, Mr. Wallis Otto, Charles Otto and Walter Standle.

POINT IS GAINED BY HIGH SCHOOLS

Result of Meeting Between Van Hise and School Superintendents Satisfactory to Latter.

In the meeting between High School Principals H. C. Buell of this city, C. C. Parlin of Wausau and L. D. Harvey of Menominee and President Van Hise and Professor Burge of the state university the first step toward the entrance without examination in the state institution by the graduates from the high schools in manual training and commercial courses was gained. After a thorough but friendly discussion of the subject the superintendents were finally promised that the state school inspectors would be instructed to hereafter make a thorough inspection of the manual training and commercial departments of the schools. This was all that could have been expected and shows that the university instructors are compelled to admit that these studies are of some value to the students and could possibly help them in their university work. The placing of these studies on the credit list could only be done by a vote of the university faculty.

LIVERMORE IS TO BE THE CHAIRMAN

Beloit Man Will in All Probability Succeed Himself as Head of County Board.

F. F. Livermore will undoubtedly be chosen chairman of the board of supervisors this year. Mr. Livermore has called a special meeting of the board for Tuesday, and it is expected that he will be chosen at that time to succeed himself as the presiding officer of the board. Indeed, it would be a surprise to Mr. Livermore and all other members if he should not be given this honor, as it has been the custom to keep on man chairman for two years. The meeting called for Tuesday is a special one, but it is a special session that is called each spring for the sake of organization. Hence it comes to be looked upon by the supervisors almost as a regular meeting. Mr. Livermore says there will be a number of changes in the personnel of committees this year, although such a change is not customary, it having been the habit in years past to leave the entire organization practically the same for two years. The changes this year will not be the result of any whim of the chairman, however, but will be necessitated by the fact that some of the chairmen will not return to the board this spring. Some of the more important chairmanships will thus become vacant and it will be necessary for the chairman to appoint new men to fill the positions.

ATTEMPT TO BREAK IN SHELDON STORE

Was Made at Eleven O'clock Last Evening—Burglars Frightened Away.

Last night at eleven o'clock Officer Morrissey on his beat through the alley which connects Court and Milwaukee streets just to the east of the waukees discovered that burglars had been at work in the rear of A. H. Sheldon's store. A piece of sheet iron which had been nailed over a broken window-pane in the back door and the section of glass still remaining had been removed and everything was in readiness for the inspection of stock and cash on hand, when the night-providers were evidently frightened away from their undertaking. After ascertaining that no one was within the store the officer went to the nearest telephone and called up Fred Sheldon. When the latter arrived on the scene a careful examination was made and it was found that nothing had been disturbed, which seemed to warrant the conclusion that the store had either not been entered or the burglar found it advisable to crawl out again and take to his heels before he had time to take anything. Officer Morrissey had seen two youths enter the alley a short time before he made his discovery and was at that time following them up to see if anything irregular was afoot. He did not catch a second glimpse of them and the supposition is that they were the ones who were attempting the job.

TWAS RARE DAY AT GOLF LINKS

Fine Weather Brought Out a Number of Visitors Yesterday—Mushrooms Harvested in Early Morning.

Some of the golfers got to the links shortly after daylight yesterday morning and remained there until the sun went down. Charles Achterberg was one of the early arrivals and in a stroll around the course picked a market-basket full of those peculiar mushrooms known as Morels, which were served at the one o'clock dinner. Messrs. Claude Hanna and Rockwell came up from Beloit in an automobile and later in the morning Mr. Morgan, senior member of the Morgan & Wright bicycle tire company of Chicago, and a party consisting of his two sons and Messrs. Griffith and Hotchkiss arrived in their big touring-car from the Morgan farm near Beloit and spent several hours on the course. Mr. Morgan was well pleased with the grounds and said that he and his two sons would be glad to become members of the club. Some of the myriads of dandelions on the course have gone to seed and the white tufts make it somewhat difficult to find the golf balls. But over the fence in Happy Hollow the violets and the mandarin oranges and the jack-in-the-bushes and in bloom and the thorn-apple and wild cherry blossoms fill the whole vale with a perfume that makes one forget all about the troublesome little weeds on the hills. On the road leading to the links there has stood for a year perhaps a big signboard extolling the qualities of a certain beer. This creation of doubtful art has fallen, its five heavy supporting timbers apparently snapped by some force wind, but in reality cleft by axes in the hands of the police. It frightened too many horses.

WAS LIVELY WEEK FOR CARD PLAYERS

Several Small Functions Were Given and There Are to Be More During Next Few Days.

Several card parties and small companies enlivened the week just closed. Ogden H. Fethers entertained a small party of friends Tuesday evening and Mrs. D. W. Wait was hostess to the members of the Ladies' Euchre club on Wednesday. Miss Marian Rogan entertained thirty little friends at an afternoon company given at her home on East street on Thursday. Saturday afternoon Mrs. C. L. Fifeid was hostess to the Ladies' Afternoon Whist club. Tomorrow afternoon Mrs. J. W. St. John will entertain one of the ladies whist clubs in honor of her guest, Mrs. Peckham, of Iowa. On Thursday, if the weather permits, the members of the D. A. R. will enjoy a picnic dinner in the country.

GOES TO JAIL FOR BEING A DRUNKARD

Man Who Tried to Flim Flam George King Here, in Jail in Portage.

J. R. Rice, who created a scene in the People's drugstore two weeks ago by trying to pass a counterfeit half-dollar and who was finally ordered out of town by the police, is now in jail in Portage. Rice is a street singer, posing as a cowboy preacher. He went from Janesville to Madison and from there to Portage, where he was arrested for drunkenness and given a jail sentence. He is accompanied in his travels by a meek-looking wife and a family of children who seems afraid of their father. After his troubles at the People's drugstore he created a disturbance at the Empire hotel, which led to his being locked up over night. While Rice is in jail his family have gone on to La Crosse to continue the work.

WILL ENTERTAIN A LARGE PARTY SOON

Wisconsin Lodge of the I. O. O. F. to Have Big Party on Wednesday Evening.

On Wednesday evening next the Wisconsin Lodge No. 14 of the I. O. O. F. and the Rebekah Lodge No. 26 and their families will be the hosts at an entertainment to be held at the Du Lac Lodge No. 32 of Milton, Milton Lodge No. 65 of Milton Junction and Waukegan lodge of O'fordville and their families have been invited. The reception will be held in the hall of the Wisconsin lodge and every member of this lodge is expected to be present. Refreshments will be served and a dance indulged in.

NEW SHOOTING-PARK TO BE SIX MILES TO SOUTHWARD

Harry Brown Farm Practically Decided Upon as Location for New Gun Club Grounds.

Members of Janesville's new gun club will in all likelihood enjoy their tournaments this summer at the Harry Brown farm which is located along the interurban line about six miles south of this city. The tract has practically been decided upon as the location for the shooting-park. The Fond du Lac club has incurred the displeasure of the G. A. R. in that city by arranging a shoot on Decoration day, but it is unlikely that any similar trouble will arise in Janesville.

GREEN BAY REFORMATORY CROWDED TO THE LIMIT

Notice is Given That No More Prisoners Can Be Accommodated for Some Time.

No more prisoners can be accommodated for the present at the boys' reformatory at Green Bay owing to the fact that the capacity of the institution is already reached and President Gustav Kuestermann of the state board of control has given notice to judges to make no more commitments until further notice. A new wing to relieve the crowded condition of the building may be erected.

LOCAL NEWS IN BRIEF

Becomes a Manager: Harry Nelthorpe, who has been in the employ of the Rock County Telephone Co. for three years, left today for Ft. Atkinson to assume his duties as manager of the Jefferson County Telephone Co. Mr. Nelthorpe's rapid advancement in the business has been a source of gratification to his many friends.

Summer-Resort Gaze: In municipal court today the action of Gilman Peterson vs. John F. Sweeney and Dr. J. F. Pomeroy is being tried. It appears that Mr. Peterson has installed a gas plant in "Thomas' Earle's cottage at Lake Kegonsa and the defendants in the action maintain that they arranged with him to connect their cottages, near by, with the plant on the condition that he should warrant that the one plant should supply the two extra houses in a satisfactory manner. The connection failed to give satisfaction and they refused to pay for the work.

Sewer at Center Street: Work on the digging of the sewer ditch on Center street between Franklin street and the river was commenced this morning.

Have a Bicycle: The police department are ahead one bicycle picked up late Saturday night. The owner can find the same at the police headquarters and relieve him of caring for it.

Are Not a Movie: The Bicknell Hardware company are not to move from Janesville. The proposition made to the broadhead owners of the foundry that that village merely would engage the local firm to increase its output and would be auxiliary to the main house at Janesville.

PRISON SENTENCE FOR JAMES EVANS

Suspect Captured in Baraboo Denies Any Part in Evansville Burglary, But Pleads Guilty.

While continuing to protest his innocence of any connection with the burglary of the Baker hardware establishment in Evansville, James Evans this morning decided to plead guilty to the burglary and will spend three months and three months in the state's prison at Waupun. Mr. Evans' story sounded a trifle aquatic. He acknowledged coming to Janesville from Watertown on the morning of the Sunday on which the job was done and said that he got drunk while here and that the next thing he knew after his spree he was in Madison, shivering and thirsty for another drink. Looking about him he found some knives in a freight-car. His thirst continued to harass him and finally when the train reached Baraboo he decided to get off and trade in some of the cutlery he had found for some of the balm made in Peoria. He did accordingly. While admitting that he had lost a hat on his journey, he refused to identify as his the one that had been picked up near the hardware establishment on the night of the burglary. The appearance in the courtroom of the brakeman who saw Mr. Evans get on the train at Evansville without any hat and who entertained a proposition from him to buy one of his knives, may have had something to do with his sudden determination to plead guilty. Bernard Palmer had been appointed to defend him and District Attorney Newhouse was already to commence the drawing of a jury. Dalquist was given three and a half years in the penitentiary on May the second.

Ward, Larned, Clothier and Possibly Wright to Represent America In International Contests In England --- Gossip of the Game.

The announcement of the members of the tennis team that will go abroad to represent America in the international contests in England gives followers of the game confidence in the outcome.

(Three men are to go over, Champion Holcomb Ward, Ex-Champion William CHAMPION-HOLCOMB WARD.

A. Larned and W. J. Clothier. This trio will, if Larned's health is good, give the Britons, Germans, Frenchmen and Italians a hot tussle. The only men they have to fear are the Doherty brothers, the English champions.

The decision of the committee regarding the international team has been more or less complicated by the rules governing the international matches, and as a result Deas C. Wright, one of the foremost players in this country, who, with Ward, was relied upon to compose the American doubles team, will probably not represent this country. Whether he will or not is yet to be settled.

If these four men are sent the Americans must notify the Englishmen three weeks in advance as to which one will play each match. If, however, only three men are sent the Americans will have the option of not naming their men until the night before the matches are played.

If Wright is not a member of the team and only three men are sent, Clothier and Ward will probably be the doubles team. Clothier, the Philadelphia expert, would thus represent America in both singles and doubles. Clothier has come prominently to the fore during the last few years. He is looked on as the coming national champion. His work in several of the national championship tournaments has been such as to win him many supporters.

The American representatives will contest in a number of special invitation tournaments in various parts of the country and sail for England the second week in June. The international play will start on July 8 at the Queen's Club, London, and continue for two weeks, closing at Wimbledon July 21, 22 and 24, when the winners of the challengers' rounds will play the holders, the English team, for the Dwight Davis challenge cup.

There is some question in some localities as to the strength of Larned's play in view of his accident last winter. He appears to feel no great concern regarding his ability to last through the severe strain of a hard competition. Ward and Clothier are said to be in excellent condition, and it is felt that with the long practice which they expect to have before sailing for the other side they will be able to do full justice to America in the actual play abroad.

Star Jockeys.

Johnny McLaughlin and Joseph Johnson Newcomers to Fame.

Two jockeys who have recently risen to national prominence are Johnny ("Terry McGovern") McLaughlin and Joseph Johnson.

From bat boy of a major league club up to a jockey is an evolution not common in the life of the usual archer, but such are the happy circumstances of young McLaughlin.

Five years ago little McLaughlin, now the best jockey at the Union track, St. Louis, was hustling bats for the St. Louis Cardinals. Today this boy, although only sixteen years old, can command a salary far and away beyond the ken of most of his heroes of five years ago.

McLaughlin is not at all inflated over his success as a jockey, and nothing pleases him better than to hustle through routine grab a bat and ball and revel in the sport that charmed him in the days when he was a kid.

Day in and day out the little fellow watches the baseball scores and longs to read of his former heroes. Still he does not sacrifice any chances to advance himself in a profession where he is rapidly striding to the top.

McLaughlin is now the leading boy at the Union track. While many think Trotter is a more capable boy, "Terry" is the lad who is usually labeled first past the post.

Pretension is McLaughlin's favorite horse. It was on the gelding that McLaughlin won the inaugural, the best event at Union this season.

Pat Civill, who owns Pretension and has the contract on McLaughlin, is keenly alive to the value of a good boy. That is why he secured McLaughlin when Schreiber let him go.

McLaughlin is still a mere boy. He is only sixteen years old and can be counted among one of the three-best light boys on the western turf. He can do eighty pounds and is remarkably powerful for one so small.

One of the most promising light-weight riders that have come to the fore this season is Joseph Johnson, a midge of a boy who can ride at seventy-six pounds.

During the winter meeting at New Orleans and the races at Washington he returned as winners 80 per cent of the horses he rode. He has not had many mounts, but with the few that he has had he has demonstrated ability of a high order as a jockey.

Johnson won his first race at Kentworth park, Buffalo, last fall. Previous to that event he had been a stable lad for two years for Thomas Walsh, who trains for Mayor Julius Fleischmann of Cincinnati. He went with Thomas Walsh to New Orleans last winter. At that place Thomas Walsh, the horse owner, was attracted to him by his clever work in the saddle, and he secured the boy's papers. He has the youngster under contract until 1908. The most sensational finish the boy ever rode was the day at New Orleans when he landed Dance Music, a 200 to 1 shot, winner, a head before Song and Wine, a stake colt.

Japs Who Excel at Baseball

Team From Mikado's Land Now Touring This Country Shows Surprising Knowledge of Our National Game --- Captain Hasido.

The team of native baseball players from Japan that recently arrived in San Francisco has astonished American fans by its ability. That the dusky little yellow men from the far east should be able to play our national game in high class style is another evidence of the versatility of the redoubtable Japs.

The team represents Waseda university, in Tokyo, and is one of many ball teams in Japan.

Waseda holds the championship of Japan, having defeated all the native college clubs and such foreign teams as were formed in the larger cities. It was only upon this condition that the college faculty consented to the present trip.

For four years they have been under the tutelage of Fred Merrifield, a former star of Chicago university, and he has taught them many of the finer points of the distinctly American game.

Professor Iso Abe, a graduate of Trinity college at Hartford, Conn., is in charge of the expedition and has also been instrumental in teaching the speedy Japanese. The principal thing noted is the speed and alertness of the visitors and their daring on the bases. Every individual player is faster than the average American.

Captain Hasido is the shortest of the team. He plays with the snap and vim of a Bill Dahlen or a Hans Wagner.

The universities, colleges, middle schools and even those of lower grades in Japan all have their champions or skillful players. The Japanese believe in giving a man a fair chance. If he cannot speak or sing, wrestle or fight skillfully and yet proves himself a champion in athletics, they honor him for what he can do and forget his shortcomings. They believe in specialization, and some of them overspecialize in such a sport as baseball. They feel that they must come up to the world's standard in whatever they undertake; then it is time for other things.

The Japanese students ordinarily wear white uniforms in their ball games, with blue socks, or "tabi," for footgear.

"The native baseballs are a trifle smaller than our own," says Merrifield, "and do not keep their shape and hardness as well. The American balls, bats, etc., are not strangers, however, to these children of progress. All this apparatus may not be understood at once, but it is bought and used until it is mastered. Perhaps the breast protector will not hold air and is counted worthless. But when once that little screw at the side is understood no further questions are asked and the rubber is always in good order.

"Suppose the pitcher does stand behind his plate and step forward to it, as his foreign competitors at the sport are accustomed to do. Yet tell him he need not pitch so far, and he will never make the mistake again. It sometimes seems queer to hear the umpire call 'Strike-ball' instead of 'Strike' simply. But the wonder is that these use English terms at all on the diamond. In fact, all the common words of the game are spoken in English, but were before the man who tries to make out the Japanese words of coaching. While you are thinking what it all means the man is under you at second.

"The other day I was coaching a new pitcher on 'drops,' 'placing,' etc., and was using as butter to help his eye. At a suitable stage in the process I turned to instruct the catcher on some point or other. The point was understood, and we were about to resume our positions when, zip! came the ball past my ear and caught the unfortunate catcher on the cheek bone.

"He scarcely moved a muscle, and never a sound came from his lips. He, quietly walked away to bathe his swollen face. That is a bit of Japanese stoicism, for we all know how a straight ball stings."

An Animal Story For Little Folks The Crane's Courtship

The Widow Owl was sitting on the stump of an old tree early one evening when who should come along but gallant Mr. Crane. He made his best bow and wished her the best of health. The widow said she was feeling well, thank you, and then they fell to talking about the weather and one thing and another.

After awhile Mr. Crane sighed a deep sigh and the Widow Owl exclaimed: "Dear me, Mr. Crane, what is the matter that you should sigh that way? It really sounds as if you were in love."

"I am in love, Mrs. Owl—deeply in love," replied the long legged bird. "I thought so," said the widow. "And with whom are you in love?"

"With you, widow; with you," answered the crane tenderly.

"Oh, my!" exclaimed the widow. "Yes, I am in love with you," continued the crane, "and I want you to be my wife. You are the fairest female in the land."

"And you," said the widow shyly, "you are the handsomest thing I know."

"Then will you be mine?" cried the crane.

"Alas, I can never be!" replied the widow.

"Why not, dear heart?" he asked.

"You live in the day and I live at night. Our paths must ever be separate."

"Too sad!" exclaimed the crane, brushing a tear from his eye.

"But I will be a sister to you," added the Widow Owl.

And then the crane shed a few more tears and went to sleep, while Mrs. Owl flew away to catch her nightly supply of mice.—Chicago Tribune.

An Animal Story For Little Folks The Divided Apple

Mr. Pig and Mr. Goat met one day under an apple tree, and after they had looked each other good morning they turned their eyes toward the upper branches to see what amount of fruit was on the tree.

"And what do you suppose they saw?" "Only one apple. But such a fine, ripe apple it was and large enough to make up for any number of smaller pieces of fruit."

"Will you do me a favor?" asked the pig of the goat.

"What is it?" asked the goat.

"Won't you butt up against this tree as hard as you can and shake that apple down for me?"

"Oh, ho!" cried the goat. "I was just going to ask you to rub up against the tree as hard as you could so as to shake that apple down for me."

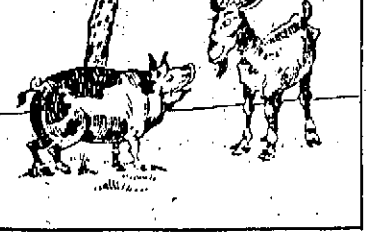

"No, I'll not shake it down for you, but I'll shake it down for myself," said the pig.

"If you do, I'll get it and eat it," answered the goat; "but I think that I'll have to butt the tree so as to get the apple for myself."

"If you do, I'll get it and eat it," replied the pig.

So they both went to work to think of a plan that would insure their getting the apple. After awhile the goat said:

"I'll tell you what we'll do. You rub against the tree, and I'll butt the tree."

"WILL YOU DO ME A FAVOR?" ASKED THE PIG.

and when the apple falls we will run to the spot, and the first one to get there may have the apple."

The pig agreed, and they set to work. The goat butted as hard as he could, and the pig rubbed as hard as he could. The tree shook, and down came the apple.

Both of the animals rushed for it, and they got there about the same time. The apple in falling had split in halves, and each of the animals grabbed a half.

"Well, that was the best way out of our controversy after all," said the goat, munching his half of the apple.

"I believe it was," assented the pig as he chewed on his half.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

A New Version of An Old Adage
"A Loaf of MARVEL FLOUR is worth a barrel of medicine."
To prevent sickness in your family, eat more bread at meals and drink more water between meals. Eat good bread, made from good flour, or the benefit will become a positive injury. Flour is more readily contaminated than most food products. A can of kerosene will tint a whole car load. Disease germs accumulated in flour made from poor wheat, milled in a dusty, badly ventilated mill, full of cobwebs and dirt, cannot be seen, though surely present.
MARVEL FLOUR
is preferred by those who know, for it is made from the choicest Spring wheat, thoroughly cleaned and hygienically milled. Both mill and machinery are systematically cleaned every day. Marvel Flour is absolutely pure and wholesome modern, scientific milling, guarantees its goodness.
You ought to use Marvel Flour. Conscientious grocers will advise you to do so. Your grocer is authorized to allow you to try Marvel Flour three times and if you are not satisfied, you may return to him what flour is left, and he will refund the full purchase price to you. Ask your grocer for Marvel Flour.

WAR OF RACES GROWS SERIOUS

Negro, With Knife, Attacks
White Man at Chicago and Is Killed.

NEW POLICEMAN TAKES A HAND

Colored Official Arrives in Time to See the Shooting, Uses His Revolver,
Then Takes Victim to Hospital Despite Threats of Mob.

Chicago, May 22.—Two persons were killed and at least a dozen others more or less seriously injured Sunday as a result of race war conditions caused by the teamsters' strike.

Rioting between white men and negroes was no longer confined to the vicinity of Twenty-ninth street and Princeton avenue. The police at the Twenty-second street station, the Cottage Grove avenue station, and the Fifty-fifth street station were kept busy all day responding to riot calls and quelling disturbances.

Although many police had been detailed to the districts where the disturbances were most frequent, they were unable to prevent the outbreaks, which grew more serious towards night.

Negro Attacks Bartender.
The most serious disturbance of the day was the riot which occurred near Lewis's saloon, Twenty-ninth street and Armour avenue, about 8 p. m.

Harry Bernstein, a bartender at the saloon, left the place to go to his house, accompanied by William Maroney, 2906 La Salle street, when he was accosted by James Gray, colored, whom he says he never saw before. The negro drew a knife, according to Bernstein, and told him to stand still. "I have got you now and I will give you what's coming to you," he is reported to have said to Bernstein.

Bernstein turned and fled towards the saloon. Finding that the negro was gaining on him he turned and drew a revolver. By this time the negro was so close to him that when he held up the weapon the barrel touched the breast of the negro.

Shots and Kills Pursuer.
Without saying anything to Gray, he pulled the trigger five times. Every shot took effect, and before the police could remove him to the Provident hospital he was dead.

Meanwhile Policeman Robert Tinsley, colored, heard the shots, and getting off of a State street cable car, ran to the spot. The policeman, who is one of the new recruits sworn in for strike duty, is detailed at the Harrison street station, and was going to his house.

Policeman Tinsley says that Bernstein was still shooting at the fallen negro when he reached him. Believing that he could rescue Gray, he drew his own revolver and fired at Bernstein. The policeman fired four times at Bernstein, one of the bullets taking effect in his back, another breaking his right arm, and a third striking him in the groin.

Policeman Is Fired At.
While the policeman was shooting at Bernstein someone rushed out of the saloon, of which the latter was bartender, and began firing at him. Tinsley ran across the street and attempted to find the person, but failed to do so.

Bernstein was carried back into Lewis's saloon, closely followed by a crowd of negroes, who attempted to strike him with clubs and stones.

"Kill him! He's a murderer, and we can give him only his dues," they cried.

The wounded man was taken to the basement of the place, while the barroom and the street soon filled with negroes struggling with the policemen, who had been called, and crying for Bernstein. Riot calls were sent to the Twenty-second street and Cottage Grove avenue stations, and when two patrol wagons arrived many of the negroes had fled. Scores of others, however, remained about the saloon attempting to find Bernstein.

Taken to Hospital by Ruse.

Policeman Tinsley, fearing that the man would be killed, went to the street and said that he had died and that he was to be taken to an undertaker's establishment. This satisfied the crowd, which permitted the covered stretcher, upon which Bernstein was placed, to be carried through their midst unmolested.

Bernstein was taken first to the Provident hospital, where his wounds were dressed. Recovering consciousness, he recognized several negro patients, and, sitting up on the operating table, demanded that he be taken elsewhere. He was removed to the People's hospital.

How Carpenter Drives Nail.

How many hammer strokes does a carpenter use in driving a nail? Perhaps not one carpenter in a thousand or one layman in ten times that number can tell, or ever thinks of it. The truth of the matter is this: The carpenter takes seven strokes in driving a nail into ordinary wood and twelve regular strokes and two finishing taps in driving nails into hardwood.

PERSIAN BOY WIDE AWAKE.

British Diplomat Relates an Instance of His Acute Observation.

Sir Mortimer Durand, the British ambassador at Washington, is a student of child life, and wherever he is stationed he never fails to gather some interesting data about the manners and methods of the juvenile population. He has found infinite amusement in observing the street gamins of New York, particularly the vendors of papers, and even in the staid and quiet American capital the diplomat has discovered young arabs to study.

But Sir Mortimer gives the palm for infantile intelligence to the little folks of Persia. For many years the present envoy to the United States represented the kingdom of Great Britain at Teheran, and he is loud in praises of the modern descendants of the fire worshippers. Sir Mortimer has embodied his impressions of Persia in a clever book, and Lady Durand, his wife, has written a dainty sketch called a "Diary of Travels in Southern Persia." Both volumes show deep sympathy and intimate knowledge of the people and pay high tributes to the qualities of the children of Iran.

The other day, however, the British ambassador told some friends an anecdote not included in his memoirs. One day the British folks determined on a picnic and the cook was told to get up a luncheon. That functionary is as important in Teheran as he is elsewhere on earth, and he told mildred that his children would pack the baskets—that they knew the ways of the British just as well as he. Sir Mortimer was willing and a tempting array of sandwiches and fruits was set forth when luncheon time arrived.

Sir Mortimer himself unpacked the drinkables, in which claret and brandy figured, and securely tied to each bottle was a package of peppermint drops, bought of the English druggist in Teheran. Sir Mortimer says he felt very uncomfortable for a time to think how carefully those youngsters had studied his ways.

TWO CLASSES OF OAK TREE

One Notable for Its Wood, the Other for Its Brilliancy of Color.

The great oak family might be divided into two classes, writes Edwin W. Foster, in "Our Friends, the Trees," in St. Nicholas; those that ripen their acorns in one season, such as the white, post and mossy-cup oaks, and those which require two full years, such as the red, scarlet and black oaks. To the first class belong the chestnut oak and the live oak of the south. This latter tree for generations played an important part in ship building, but has now been superseded by iron and steel. The leaf, which is an evergreen, is entirely without indentations, and is thick and leathery. The wood is very heavy and strong, has a beautiful grain, and is susceptible of taking a high polish. At one time this wood was so valuable that our government paid $200,000 for large tracts of land in the south, that our navy might be sure of a supply of live oak timber.

To the second class of oaks we are largely indebted for the gorgeous colors of our autumn leaves. The red, scarlet and pin oaks, with their brilliant reds, scarlets and browns, are close competitors with the maple in giving our American landscapes the most wonderful autumn colorings to be found anywhere in the world. These three trees are quite similar, but by careful examination may always be distinguished.

RAIN WHEN COW SNEEZES.

Tennessee Negro Discovers Remarkable Accuracy of the Act as a Weather Sign.

"There was an old negro slave on my uncle's farm down in Tennessee who was a peculiar chap, and of whom the youngsters about the place—white as well as black—stood in fear," said Senator Carmack, in conversation with a group of friends, relates the Washington Post.

"This aged Senegambian, Uncle Tom by name, could give all the modern weather sharp cards and spades and beat them, for he could predict with almost unerring accuracy what the elements would be doing. One day I was standing out in the cow pen beside the old man, when he suddenly exclaimed: 'Did you hear that?'

"Hear what, Uncle Tom?"

"Hear that old speckled cow sneeze. Sho' as yo' am libin', boy, it am a-gwine rain befo' morning, kase whenever you hear a cow sneeze dat means rain."

"Sure enough, it poured down from the skies, as Tom had foretold. Prior to that I had never taken note of a cow's sneezing, and there may be skeptical folks who would doubt that this was a bovine habit, but my own belief in it is firmly established, and I am equally sure that old Uncle Tom had good cause to establish a connection between it and wet weather."

New Korean Railway.

Japan subsidized a company to build the Korean railway lately opened. All the rolling stock came from the United States—the locomotives from the Baldwin works, Philadelphia, the cars from the various American car factories, and the 90 pound rails from the Carnegie steel works. The cost of the Seoul-Fusan line, 276 miles, has been about $50,000 a mile, or $13,800,000. There are 26 tunnels, 96 long bridges and about 500 smaller ones. The two chief construction engineers were Japanese.

National Pride.

Sir Rottin Rowe—All your—haw—really brilliant marriages are contracted in England, y' know.

Miss Gaysett—Fernaps, but that's passe. All our brilliant separations are strictly American.—Puck.

Bad Effect of Bitters.

Luckily absinthe is not much drunk in this country, but other bitters are only less injurious. Your readers should know that all bitter tonics, habitually indulged in, are apt to do harm—to depress, not exhilarate. Such tonics should be taken rather as medicines than as everyday drinks. You could bring yourself to melancholy by means of gentian, quassia or columba as well as by wormwood.—London Mail.

COST OF TRIP TO A STAR.

In Money and Time It Amounts to Something Bewildering in Figures.

"Let us suppose a railway to have been built between the earth and the fixed star Centauri," said the lecturer, according to the Philadelphia Bulletin. "By a consideration of this railway's workings we can get some idea of the enormous distance that intervenes between Centauri and us."

"Suppose that I should decide to take a trip on this new aerial line to the fixed star. I ask the ticket agent what the fare is, and he answers:

"The fare is very low, sir. It is only a cent each hundred miles."

"And what, at that rate, will the through ticket one way cost?" I ask.

"It will cost just $1,750,000,000," he answers.

"I pay for my ticket and board the train. We set off at a tremendous rate."

"How fast?" I ask the brakeman, "are we going?"

"Sixty miles an hour, sir," says he, "and it's a through train. There are no stoppages."

"We'll soon be there, then, won't we?" I resume.

"We'll make good time, sir," says the brakeman.

"And when will we arrive?"

"In just 48,603,000 years."

Chestnuts a Paying Crop.

The boys may be interested to know that chestnuts prove a very profitable crop. Experts claim that an orchard of chestnuts will bring greater returns to the owner than an apple orchard of the same size, as the nuts are retailed on the street corners at about six dollars a bushel, while the Italian who sells roasted chestnuts receives pay for them at the rate of at least eight dollars a bushel. The tree is one of the most rapid growers, and has been known to bear fruit at five years of age.—Edwin W. Foster, in St. Nicholas.

Selecting His Part.

"Cy Lyle have writ a tank play called 'A Christmas Eve Jug,' and we are ast to take a part in it. If Cy will let us take the roll of the tank, and will give bond to keep us damp all the time, we'll sign with him for the season.—Hardeman Free Press.

The Reason.

The Visitor—I'm surprised to hear you complain that the prison fare is too good. The Convict—It's dis way, boss. De grub has made me so blame fat I can't get through dat winder, even though I've got dis steel saw.—Boston Traveler.

A good thing—a want ad.

ONE OF THE LATEST TURBAN SHAPES

The hempen weaves are fast replacing the more expensive chip shapes, a greater durability being claimed for their successor. One in a pretty shade of porcelain blue is pictured, in which the back is pinched in close to the round crown, and the left side flares upward in a most fetching manner. Sprays of the most natural-looking La France roses posed carelessly on the up side of the brim, these lying flat, just as though they had rested there quite by chance. A border of pale blue velvet, piped at one edge in black, is arranged all around the upper brim, the outer one being left entirely untrimmed. From the crown a group of pale blue ostrich plumes are cleverly draped, three harmonizing shades being observed in these, one short one dropping over the crown towards the front, and the other two turning backward over the brim with the tips resting on the hair. The bandeau at the left side is trimmed with roses and foliage, and a spray of these seems to pinch up the hat in the back.

DOLL'S DAY

NEXT SATURDAY will be a great event for every little girl who owns a Doll. It will be the greatest bargain day the Dolls ever knew—for we want every little girl to come and bring Dolly. We will PRESENT each Doll with a pair of genuine Burson Fashioned Hose that just fit—we have sizes to fit every Doll and . . .

BURSON FASHIONED HOSE

are the only Stockings in the world knit to fit, without a seam. Most seamless stockings are straight and shapeless, especially after they are washed. Burson Fashioned Hose fit at every point—leg, ankle, heel—and they are beautifully tapered, just as grandmother used to "taper off"—though the Burson Hose are all done on a wonderful machine.

When you try on a pair of BURSONS just notice the ease and comfort—no binding at one place and looseness at another; that often causes poor circulation, when you wear cheap stockings. The BURSON STOCKINGS are delightfully smooth, comfortable, neat in fit and have no seams to hurt the heel or cause corns or callous—seams do that. GUARANTEE—A new pair for every pair that fails.

Come in and learn about Burson Hose. Daily talks this week in our Stocking Department.

Remember Doll's Day—Saturday—when we give a pair of genuine BURSON SEAMLESS HOSE to fit each Doll. We only ask that each little girl be accompanied by her mother or some other grown person, to escort her to and from the store.

THE ENTIRE WEEK, FROM MONDAY MORNING UNTIL SATURDAY NIGHT, WILL BE DEVOTED TO

HOSIERY SELLING

Our main object is to impress upon the people the high standard of our Hosiery department. In addition to the "Burson," on which we are making a special effort, you will find in our stock complete lines of "Burlington" Fast Black Hose for Men, Women and Children. This Burlington Hosiery is the brand sold almost exclusively in Marshall Field & Co.'s retail.

Then again, you will find full lines of the world-wide known "ONYX" dye—the brand sold in Lord & Taylor's great retail house in New York City. Again, we show dozens of numbers of the famous "LOUIS HERMSDORF" Fast Blacks—imported German Hosiery recognized all over the world as the best Fast Black that ever was produced.

IN CHILDREN'S HOSIERY we ask you to inquire for—"Black Cat," style 15, the Boys' great 25c Stocking; "Onyx," style 47, the Girls' fine 25c Stocking; Southern Mills, style 401, the best 10c Hose that can be had; Southern Mills, style 412, the best 12½c Hose that can be had; Southern Mills, style 417, the best 15c Hose that can be had.

You will find us long on quantity. You will find us strong on quality. You will find us the lowest on price.
